Feedback for the student:

I appreciate her work done in different anganwadis. She didn't repeat the same Activities. As informed by her I like that she involved even teacher with the students while doing the activity, and also made the activity session interactive so that children can understand what they are doing and she helped students in re-doing that activity. She also sensitized teachers about the importance of the activities she was doing with the children and also insisted teacher to take activities for children atleast twice a week. I liked the way she did her observation during her learning process, during her anganwadi visits. She said as all children are not same, each child is different and need different kind of support and for that teacher have to work accordingly with the children.
