No

More Applicative Subjects like Economic Geology

Remote Sensing and GIS

If they taught properly

Practical Application of concepts more emphasis on application of concepts learnt to solve real world problems.

Philosophy of education, Philosophy of language

Some course like "Portuguese language and literature training" And "Conversation and communication"

More detailed information

Total Practicality

Verbal communication focused on developing speaking and reading skills.

Maybe how to write public policy

Syllabus was appropriate

More of research oriented and not the same syllabus as the Bsc.

More practical work

Bonsai making

In our program, we focused more on Literature. It would be great if we stress on linguistics, business communication, and soft skills. One of the big issues I see among our community is that a lot of talented students are not very good at expressing themselves or understanding how to be themselves and learn the art of giving interviews.

Existentialism

knowledge of chemistry and microbiology

More practical work , attending subject related workshops and courses

Research and technical training

Practical components

Everything was good

Students should be given more practical knowledge rather than just making them rot memory.

Field trips

Internship or practical study

More details examination of difficult topics from syllabus

All were okay

Reality rather than Fantasy

Excellent

New advances

Thomas Aquinas was removed I heard, a few years ago. It should be reinstated to get a balanced view of Western Philosophy.

B.Ed. Teacher Training Programme in French in order to avail of permanent employment opportunities in the field of education at all levels.

More Practical & Simplify manner

More optional subjects in the department

All the courses were good but perhaps the following would be of interest to some:

- Dubbing & subtitling (film/documentary).
- Developing interpreter skills.
- Innovative ways of story-telling in French.
- Modern take on ancient texts.
- Discussion and debates on current affairs in France.

Maybe approaches to research. Though we did research methodology, I am stuck at reading research articles.

Environmental economics , entrepreneurship development and development strategies

Non

More practical knowledge over the subject

More practical aspects along with theory.

Courses to develop lab skills and real life practical applications

Use of ICT incorporated into teaching methodology. The curriculum is good, but since chemistry involves a lot of abstract ideas teaching using technology would be helpful for the students.

More of real world experience

Chemistry Related

Operating of Instruments for project work

Site visits

Kindly include topics relevant to CSIR NET exam.

More Practicals

Career guidance

More or practical exam and hands on practice
Exposure to more equivalents and instruments
More focus on testing basic knowledge

Environmental economics

areas of development of instrumental methods in the field of research.

More knowledge on instrumental techniques along with handling and interpretation

Weekly Classes on NET-SET training

We had various subtopics related to the field of microbiology spread out throughout the semesters

Ex: Agricultural micro

Medical virology
Microbial genetics etc

Recent & realistic data.

Internship experience in Curriculum

Nothing to add

More field training

More time to give one each topic

More practical work

MORE OF PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE AND COMMUNICATION SKILLS

more of Field work

Some practical sessions are outdated and not using much currently in research field.
Please upgrade the syllabus according to the current research status. They are only teaching what they know instead of trying to learn new methods or softwares.

Everything is perfect

The course was good.

In practicals

Marine sciences

Detailed syllabus considering either earth science net exam or life science

RESEARCH AND JOB ORIENTED

DNA extraction and PCR practical classes.

Practical component

More of industrial training
Internships to most of the students

More practical work and understanding

Syllabus is appropriate

Indian writers and content which would relate to their lives

Teacher's guidance at the GU library, visits to literary events, courses on creative writing, Goan literature, journalism, etc.

Need to avoid repetition of texts and explore other fields of literature.

Beyond the syllabus, the students would appreciate more efficiency in the GU administration.

Projects or activities

Practical courses field trips

English Language Teaching Skills

1. More job-oriented courses
2. More Goa-centric programmes
3. More Creative Writing work
4. More courses connected to Journalism and Advertising
5. More preparation for undertaking a PhD
6. More studies on contemporary literature
7. More studies on world literature
8. Some entry points into translations
9. More ways of dealing with a multi-lingual Goa
- 10 More work on Konkani-writing in translation.

A compulsory paper on Goan Literature.

Skill based courses, guidance in future careers, job placement, research experience through conferences etc. (not necessarily part of the syllabus, but worth mentioning)

Practical works and teachers participation

Hi

More research papers and guidelines/videos/interactions in how to get papers publications

Individual choice of subjects

Understanding concept of human resources

Under NEP, all courses are useful

More interactive study

much of practical knowledge, instrumentation handling

About the pharma life and the opportunities after MSc

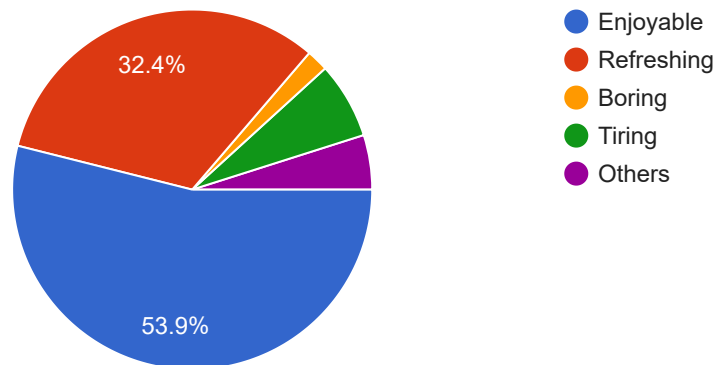

Pharmaceutical industry related study especially Quality Control.
And there should at least one month compulsory internship in pharmaceutical industries.
Career counseling should also be included in syllabus so that each student will get a brief idea about the future jobs.

Develop programs for Alumni, not to forget them after the degree

It should effectively build the profile of former alumni, and help connect them.

Spread awareness about the institution and courses provided.

I'm not really sure what my expectations should be. The college (BA) alumni association that I'm a part of does the following: advertise job prospects and organise gatherings. That's it. Hence, unsure of what I should expect from GU alumni association.
