Queer Movements, Lecture by Dr. Ashley Tellis

Dr Ashley Tellis conducted a session on Queer movements: history and contemporary challenges. Dr Ashley Tellis, sociologist, academician, and journalist spoke about the women's movement in the west and in India linking it with the queer movement and challenges. Drawing upon the history of both women's movement and the queer movement he posed certain contemporary questions for the audience.

It was an interactive session with both part I and II students of MA Women's Studies.

A total of 13 students and staff members were present for the lecture on 18/11/2021 from 11.30 to 1.30 pm.
